Introduction

The actual rural camp was preceded by two weeks of camp preparation to actual camp. This will include pilot visits to the village for identification of the camp site, projects to be implanted, and to liaise with local community to conduct the rural camp in a particular place.

Objectives

1. To make the social work trainees to experience group living and to initiate and participate in development work in a village identified by the department and the students together.
2. To expose the students to rural life & living
3. To enable the students to learn by carrying our development projects after identifying local need.
4. To help them develop capacities and attitudes suitable for a group living.
5. To inculcate the spirit of working in a team.
6. To practice the skills developed during the project field work component.

Pre-camp planning

Social work trainees were given a wide chance of taking up responsibilities with leadership. The camp leaders are elected and the students organizing the camp are divided onto various committees and are delegated with their responsibilities.

The student who are selected to represent the class are guided by the faculty members for visiting the purposed places and identify the needs and interests of people through professional interactions. Thus the place suggested and selected was konnaiyur. A pilot visit was undertaken by 4 students and 1 faculty member to identify the needs and social constraints prevailing. During the pilot visit, the camp leaders were accompanied by the camp director and with two more students heading different committees, paid visits to the offices of social institutions like gram panchayat with the unleashing support of panchayat president , visiting the officials were facilitated and that helped in broader and clear planning thus the villages identified in konnaiyur.

Hence forth discussions were held to devise the desired plans, programmes, source of funds, involvement of people in the programme collecting material contacting experts for lectures and as guests.

On camp

After all preparations made the trainees were reached the camp place konnaiyur. We started our rural camp journey by making all the preparations into live.

Child marriage violates children's rights and places them at high risk of violence, exploitation, and abuse. Child marriage affects both girls and boys, but it affects girls disproportionately

It is defined as a marriage of a girl or boy before the age of 18 and refers to both formal marriages and informal unions in which children under the age of 18 live with a partner as if married.

Trees absorb carbon dioxide and give us oxygen without which no living being can live. Trees give us shade, medicine, food, fruits, furniture, fuel etc. Trees also keep the weather cool and cause rainfall. They also bind soil and thus prevent erosion.
